

The 21st century: Original paintings & sculpture by L.L.Lengyel

"My current postmodern work requires movement, physicality and material plasticity. I produce the artwork in workspaces separate from home. My studios tend to be industrial space adapted for creative use. The work takes place in a bay area warehouse & the concepts flow from there."

Laura La Forêt Lengyel is an American artist living in the San Francisco Bay Area since 1963. She began painting in 1954 and received her first painting commission in 1965. Born & raised in the industrial city of Bridgeport, CT, Lengyel believes that her artwork should pique the mind, imagination and spirit and offer potential for positive transformation. Her 21st century works are in context with the Modernist rooted west coast painting approach, realized by a background in visual art, art history, music, modern dance, literature, math, art & design services, commissions & exhibitions.
